CLEANING

GLASS SPLASHBACKS

Glass splashbacks can be very swift and convenient, however it can also be very hard to maintain, especially using a mirrored glass and the streaks are noticeable with every wipe.

The best way to clean splashbacks is with a good quality paper towel mixed with warm soapy water to clean the splashback, then using a dry paper towel go back over the glass for a final polish.

CLEANING

TILES

Cleaning tiles can be a little easier as you can use a normal cloth, wipe over the specific areas you want cleaned and you are done.

These benefits are great however over time the grout discolours and wears down.

Tiles also do not cover the entire walls and leaves the wall to be discoloured and damaged over time.

PRICING

Many years ago,
Tiles were half the price of Glass.

These days they are just as expensive due to the quality of tiles you are selecting.

If you would like a standard painting
with/without metallics this is our entry level pricing.

However you must also be aware of the size of the glass you were wanting,
cut outs, wastage and technical sections must also be considered for pricing.

DESIGN

Tiles

can give you a great texture, feel and robust appeal to a kitchen.

Upon touching tiles, they can you patterns coming out of the wall, bring you into the room and can be altered between modern and classic.

Glass Splashbacks

give smooth and slick appearance with sharp finishes. This is perfect for any modern home. This kind of finish is great for opening up a room and giving it a personality with a wow factor.

Pictured splashbacks are a great statement feature for any modern home that shouts 'class'. These splashbacks are cared for with a longer process due to the sensitivity with no room for error, the options are endless for any design.
